

SUMMER TRAINING EDITORIAL PROGRAM FOR TIMES NIE MEMBERS

Newspaper in Education (NIE), a Times of India initiative launched a Summer Training Editorial Program under the tutelage of a leading journalist team. The program included a written test as the first stage held at N K Bagrodia Public School, Dwarka.

Mohit Sharma, class XII D, The Air Force School, participated in this test and cleared with flying colours. He is now eligible to attend a week-long summer training slated to start from 27 May 2024

The entrance test which continued for a duration of one hour, contained questions that tested the student on several fields like general awareness, general knowledge, questions on grammar and language and questions on the layout of the NIE newspaper. The paper also had a question on writing an essay on topics like 'How do you see India in the coming Five Years?', 'How has G20 helped in the economic growth of its member countries?' and 'Can Social Media Influencer become a full-time career?'

The questions were challenging and called for the student's presence of mind and ability to stay updated with the social, political and educational surroundings.

Mohit will get a chance to work with the editorial team of The Times of India- Student Edition to gain hands-on experience in journalism.

The school is very proud of this achievement and wishes Mohit a gainful experience at the summer training camp.
